William Blattenberger

This entire end of the county was startled on last Thursday, June 16, to learn of the sudden death of William Blattenberger. Mr. Blattenberger was directing a barn raising at the home of Wesley Studebaker above New Paris. The first tier of timbers had been placed when they were compelled to seek shelter from a down pour of rain. When the rain ceased the work was again renewed. A few timbers were lifted in place above the first tier and Mr. Blattenberger, standing on the ground and looking up, was in the act of giving some directions about their proper placement when suddenly he fell heavily to the ground and expired in a few minutes without regaining consciousness. He appeared to be in his usual health when he left home earlier in the week. Wednesday night he slept soundly and ate a hearty breakfast Thursday morning.

Mr. Blattenberger was a highly respected citizen of Fishertown; a man of integrity and honor; a man who lived justly, loved mercy and walked humbly with his God. He was a consistent and faithful member of the Fishertown Lutheran Church and for many years has been filling positions of honor and trust in that congregation; at the time of his death was a teacher in the Sunday School and an elder in the church council. To whatever duty he was called he responded with hearty fidelity.

He was also a member of Schellsburg Lodge, No. 870, I. O. O. F. He became a member of this fraternal organization about 27 years ago.

Mr. Blattenberger was born May 14, 1852. He had, therefore, passed his 58th birthday by one month and two days.

In addition to that larger outer circle, those that mourn his loss and upon whom falls the greater sorrow are first of all the members of the bereaved home, consisting of the widow and three daughters, two of whom are married and live in Altoona and Miss Lottie at home. Of brothers and sisters the following survive: Fred and Mrs. Eli Reininger, of Fishertown; John, of Spring Hope; and Abraham, of Roaring Spring.

The funeral was held Sunday morning, June 19, with services in the Fishertown Lutheran Church and with interment in the Fishertown Cemetery. The services were in charge of Rev. H. W. Bender. The lodge of which he was a member attended the funeral in a body and held appropriate services at the grave. The pall-bearers, chosen from the order, were H. L. Hull, William Hoover, Jr., C. B. Culp, Dr. W. L. Van Orner, Samuel Wheatstone and A. W. Colvin. H. W. Bender.

Washouts Delay Trains

The Bedford Division train due in Cumberland at 7:10 was delayed by three or four washouts about Hyndman Sunday evening and did not reach Cumberland until the next morning. The track was greatly damaged.

Tuesday another cloud-burst played havoc with the track near Fossilville. Local could not move, the track being injured both north and south of it, and the evening passenger train was detained at Mann's Choice from 6 o'clock until after 1 o'clock that night.

Killed in Collision

In a head-on collision between the Baltimore and Ohio's Somerset and Cambria Branch through freight train and a pipe line train near Faustwell, W. C. Kennell of near Hyndman, married and 22 years old, freeman on the pipe line train, and J. F. Lannen of Rockwood, married and 25 years old, brakeman on same train, were killed and eleven others hurt. The collision occurred at a sharp curve, and was caused by Engineer S. C. Lint, of the pipe line train misreading the orders.

Rev. H. B. Townsend of Philadelphia is spending some time in Bedford.

Mr. D. H. Fair of New Buena Vista made a business trip to Bedford on Wednesday.

Hon. John H. Jordan, U. S. District Attorney for Western Pennsylvania, was in Bedford a couple days this week.

Mr. Harry Cromwell, who recently graduated from State College in Mining Engineering, has accepted a position in Alabama and left on Wednesday to enter upon his duties.

Mr. George A. Rush of Wilmerding, an employee in the Pitcairn car shops, has been greeting old friends here since Wednesday morning. He will leave on Saturday.

PYTHIAN NEWS

Grand Chancellor Steece and H. Oscar Kline Attend Meeting.

Would you be surprised if we were to tell you that in defiance of the sweltering hot evening, Monday of this week, about forty members and visiting brothers met at Castle Hall No. 436 at 8 o'clock, and without much complaining about the hot weather, the Chancellor Commander called the session to order and everybody got busy. The officers performing their duty, other members trying to keep cool.

Grand Chancellor, James A. Steece, accompanied by our good brother, H. O. Kline, came in during the session. Of course you may imagine what took place at that juncture. Brother Steece in a very able manner gave us a large amount of good valuable information and encouragement on Pythianism, as well as the exemplification of the secret work. Brother Kline was called upon for remarks and freely responded in his usual, pleasing manner. No. 436 keeps extended arms for our esteemed member and brother at all times. Members of the Lodge also responded to the call for a few words to fit the occasion.

Of course No. 436 has not been sleeping at its post during the past nine months. Quite a number of new members have been added to the Lodge. Another application for the rank of Page was received this evening. We are not going to stop work on account of the hot weather either. Something is going to happen right along and you will miss it unless you get in line and follow the crowd.

The Entertainment Committee did not forget their duty. Later during the session it was announced that something good to eat was in waiting for us, and don't you know it only took a short time to close up the business of the evening after that announcement.

The members who forgot to meet with us on this special convocation missed a Pythian treat. The work done in this session will long be remembered by all who were there, and we shall ever remember with the highest regards Chancellor Commander Steece. We found him to be even more interesting and pleasing than we had thought, and we think that Cumberland County is very fortunate in capturing Brother Steece at the last nomination for the office of Legislature. We join in congratulations. K. of R. & S.

Prizes For Bowlers

Bowling matters at the Springs Bowling Alleys will take on a very active form this summer. We understand that the plans of the management include a weekly prize, beginning with the week of June 27, for the high score of each week; another prize for the high score of the season. There will be at least two tournaments open to residents of Bedford for suitable cups, and in addition, at the close of the season, a tournament with handicap features for those who are eligible. More complete details will be found in these columns later, and in the meantime Mr. Maynard, who is in charge of the alleys, will be pleased to make Bedford County acquaintances and mark up high scores for the first cup.

Isaac Nicodemus

Isaac Nicodemus, a veteran of the Civil War, died at his home near Helixville on Monday, June 20, 1910, aged 77 years, one month and two days.

He is survived by two sons and four daughters, as follows: Frank of Imbertown, George of Mann's Choice, Mrs. Emma Leader of Duquesne, Mrs. Ella Henderson of East McKeesport, Mrs. May Wade of New Paris and Mrs. Carrie Fleegle of Helixville.

Mr. Nicodemus served three years in the Civil War, enlisting in Company E, 138th Regiment, on August 17, 1862. He was discharged May 24, 1865. The pall-bearers were chosen from among his comrades.

The funeral was held from his late residence Wednesday morning, with services in the old white church near Schellsburg and interment was made in the Schellsburg Cemetery, Rev. H. W. Bender officiating.

Orpha Pearl Reed

Orpha Pearl Reed died at Saxton on June 19 aged 17 years, one month and 25 days. Her death was caused by dypsoy, after a long illness. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Reed. She was a quiet, unassuming girl, whose early death is mourned by many. Funeral services were held Tuesday morning and were conducted by Rev. P. W. McGuire. Interment at Fockler's Cemetery.

BOARD OF TRADE MEETING

Organization Growing—New Members Admitted.

At a meeting of the Bedford Board of Trade Tuesday night a letter was read from the Altoona and Bedford County Railway Company, in which they state that certain capitalists are ready to take up the bonds of the company to the amount of $1,500,000 provided that $500,000 worth of stock is subscribed for and taken in Bedford and Blair Counties; work to be begun on the line immediately. The subscription list remains in the hands of the secretary.

Representatives of several prospective industries appeared before the Board of Trade and asked for information.

An invitation was received from the Bedford Springs Company, Ltd., inviting the Board of Trade to take dinner at the Springs Hotel on Thursday evening, June 23, at 7:30. On motion the invitation was accepted with the thanks of the organization.

The following persons were elected to membership: Dr. H. B. Strock, Samuel McVicker, William F. Barclay, James H. Irwin, Maj. James F. Mickel, John F. Brightbill, Sol C. Ritchey, Robert L. Fyan, Neilson R. Horne, John I. Corlie, Clarence F. Litzburg, John C. Bortz and D. Clyde Cessna.

PENROSE TICKET NAMED

Republican State Convention Adopts State of the Bosses.

Harrisburg, Pa., June 22.—Without a dissenting voice, the Republican State Convention shortly before noon today nominated the candidates agreed upon by the Republican leaders of Pennsylvania. The full Republican state ticket follows:

Governor—John K. Tener of Washington County.

Lieutenant Governor—John M. Reynolds of Bedford County.

Secretary of Internal Affairs—Henry Houck of Lebanon County.

State Treasurer—Charles Fred Wright of Susquehanna County.

A False Report

On Friday of last week many persons were disappointed because Sun Brothers' Show did not give a street parade, and the report became current that they did not do so because the borough had demanded One Hundred ($100) Dollars for permission to parade through the streets of the town.

The truth of the matter is that no such permission was asked, hence no demand on the part of the borough was made—in short, the show no longer gives street parades.

Marriage Licenses

Charles Ambrose Wertz of Bedford Township and Cora Edna Howser of Bedford.

Clarence E. Walter of Wichita, Kan., and Nettie F. Claycomb of Osterburg.

Erastus McFarland and Effie E. Woy, of West Providence.

Daniel Albert Miller and Philomena Ethel Theys, of Hyndman.

Sunday School Workers

Program for convention to be held June 28, at Dry Ridge Church, Sulphur Springs Charge, Rev. E. M. Adair, pastor.

Afternoon Session

Devotional service by pastor local. Opening address, Rev. J. C. Knable. "Are we justified in closing our Sunday Schools a part of the year?" opened by Superintendent Hyde and followed by a conference. "The qualifications of a good superintendent," Superintendent of Mann's Choice Sunday School, followed by conference.

Night Session

"Should the management of our Sunday Schools be under the care of the congregational consistency?" Rev. E. M. Adair, J. T. Cuppett. Teacher training, M. H. Kramer. Developing a missionary spirit in the Sunday School, Rev. M. A. Kieffer.

An offering will be taken at each session to defray the expenses of the convention.

Rev. J. C. Knable, District President.

Court Notes

At a session of court held by the Associate Judges on Wednesday, Murray C. Leader was appointed Assistant Assessor for West Ward of Bedford, to fill the vacancy caused by the removal of George May from the district.

In the estate of Adam Maugle the bond of Joseph Maugle, committee, was filed and approved.

John H. Koontz

John H. Koontz, an aged and respected citizen of Bedford Township, died at his home near Cessna on Monday of catarrh of the bowels, aged 74 years, one month and 24 days.

Mr. Koontz was united in marriage with Miss Mary Moses on September 1, 1859. He is survived by his widow, one brother, George Z. Koontz of Bedford Township, and one sister, Mrs. Josiah Miller, of Pittsburg.

Mr. Koontz was well known in this community and was a prominent Granger. Mr. Koontz, in his younger days, waggoned to Cumberland, Hollidaysburg and Hopewell, and in Bedford's Old Home Week celebration he drove a team of six horses in an old Conestoga wagon, carrying the bed upon which he slept by the fireplaces at the wayside inns. The bells upon the horses were used by him and earlier by his father.

The funeral services were conducted by his pastor, Rev. H. C. Salem, of St. Clairsville Lutheran pastorate, assisted by Rev. E. A. G. Hermann. Interment was made at St. Paul's Reformed Cemetery in Bedford Township. The service of the Grange was performed at the grave.

FRUIT SHIPPERS' MEETING

Important Matters to Be Discussed With Regard to Marketing.

An important regular meeting of the Fruit Shippers will be held at the Court House at 10:30 a. m. and 1:30 p. m. on Saturday, June 25. Definite plans for uniform grading and labeling will be considered, and new and carefully considered plans for marketing the apples in such a way as to get out of them something close to the very high figures now procured for the inferior Pacific Coast fruit.

It has been repeatedly shown that our apples are better than the Coast apples; yet they are getting, through better marketing methods, as much a bushel for some of their apples as we get for a barrel, the man who buys from them paying the freight clear across the continent.

The Executive Committee has also to report some very advantageous offers for fruit trees, barrel stock and orchard supplies. Grading crews will be selected, committees to supervise the work appointed, and arrangements made for training the crews and foremen so that they can do good work. It is also hoped that by this time definite arrangements shall have been made for the sale of cull apples and cider at profitable figures. This meeting is very important, as in it are to be laid the plans for the whole work this fall. Members ought to come and bring with them others who are interested in fruit. The movement affects everyone who grows apples. Where we have fallen down heretofore has not been on having good fruit but on not marketing it so as to get its value.

The meeting will be open to all who come. We expect a large attendance. W. F. Biddle, Sec.

Mrs. Dorothy Oster

Mrs. Dorothy Oster died of paralysis at Osterburg on June 18, 1910, aged 81 years, two months and 13 days.

Mrs. Oster was born near Weyant on April 5, 1829, and was a daughter of Joseph Berkhimer. She was united in marriage with William Oster and is survived by the following children: Mrs. Sarah Shafer and Mrs. Amanda Conrad, of Osterburg. The funeral services were conducted on Monday in the Reformed Church at Osterburg by Rev. J. W. Zehring.

Mrs. Oster was of a kind and loving disposition and will be missed in the community. She was faithful in church work, and was the widow of the founder of Osterburg, where she lived over 25 years.

Hoffman Garage Open

The new garage of the Hoffman Automobile Company was opened on Monday. A full line of tires and other supplies are carried. This company has been in business for six years, having the main office at Meyersdale. The local garage is in charge of C. J. Rowe of Meyersdale and H. W. Cunard of Everett is shop foreman. They handle Maxwell, Columbia, Stoddard-Dayton and other cars.

Mrs. J. C. Barnhart

Mrs. Elmira, wife of J. C. Barnhart, formerly of this county, died at Los Angeles, Cal., Tuesday morning, June 21. The remains will be brought here for interment and will likely reach Bedford on Monday. Particulars later.

DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM

Strong Declaration of Principles Adopted at the Allentown Convention.

Recognizing that "A wise and frugal government is one which restrains men from injuring one another, which leaves them otherwise free to regulate their own pursuits of industry and improvement, and does not take from the mouth of labor the bread it has earned;" we, the representatives of the Pennsylvania Democracy, in convention assembled, do hereby declare for the following principles:

First—Under the mask of protection to American labor, the Republican party has taxed the necessities of life for the benefit of corporate trusts. It has used the tariff, not with the Constitutional object of raising revenue, but that the trusts may increase their profits and enlarge their dividends. By this unlawful abuse of tariff laws, it has increased the cost of living and laid an oppressive and cruel burden upon the mass of the people, to whose cries for relief the present Republican Congress has turned a deaf ear.

Pledged by its National platform, and by the explicit promise of the President to revise the tariff so as to reduce duties and lift from the daily need of the citizens the intolerable burden it has imposed, the Republican party has, at the dictation of the trusts, passed a tariff bill that not only fastened the existing iniquitous taxes on the necessities of life, but in many instances augmented them and created new burdens.

Real Tariff Revision

We charge the Republican party with exploiting the taxing power of the Government for the benefit of special classes, special interests, and its political advantage to the obstruction of private enterprise and the oppression of the people.

The Democratic party therefore declares reform in our revenue laws to be the first and most urgent duty of Congress, and that in the levying of a revenue tax, the following principles should be strictly observed:

Free raw materials.

The lightest possible tax on the necessities of life.

Luxuries should bear the greatest burden.

Second—The products of monopolies and oppressive trusts should be made to face the free competition of the markets of the world, that the people may not be subjected to arbitrary exactions.

No special privileges.

The needs of the consumer and the comforts of the many to be considered before the profits of the few.

Third—We demand the strictest economy in every department of the National and State Government, and insist that such methods of public accounting be established and enforced as to put them on a thorough business-like footing, and secure unmistakable individual responsibility on the part of every officer entrusted with authority. We denounce heedless waste of the people's money as a crime against the millions of working women and men from whose earnings the great proportion of these immense sums must be extorted through excessive tariff and other taxation.

We declare for a strict supervision of the amounts expended for charitable institutions of this Commonwealth, and an administration of the affairs of such institutions and the appropriations for them, with strict economy and sane business methods, and cite as an instance of waste, prodigality and mal-administration, the fact that one million, seven hundred thousand ($1,700,000) dollars have been spent for an asylum for the insane in Pennsylvania in seven years, without accommodating one patient.

Administration Aids Land Grabbers

Fourth—The public lands, the forests, the water-power, the mineral resources of the Territories of the United States, which have not passed out of governmental control, must be safeguarded by thorough legislation from exploitation of any kind that will render them private property and take them out of the control of the Government or involve their use without full payment for their privilege into the public treasury. The profit and use of them should accrue to the nation.

The present national administration has been convicted in the eyes of the world of being in league with favored corporations and capitalists, who seek selfishly to grasp the rich natural resources of our distant possessions in order that they may increase their already swollen and dangerous wealth and tighten their control of the comforts and living of the people. The scandal of the disposition of the friars lands in the Philippines and the ore and mineral wealth of Alaska is a national disgrace for which the Republican administration is directly responsible. The retention by the President of his inculcated Secretary of the Interior is an affront to the honesty and moral sense of the nation.

Fifth—Believing that all should pay proportionately for the protection and benefit of a popular government, we favor an income tax as a part of our revenue system, and declare for a proposed constitutional amendment authorizing Congress to levy and collect a tax upon individual and corporate incomes, limited to certain amounts, to the end that wealth may bear its due share of the burdens of the Government.

Sixth—We favor the principle of arbitration in all labor disputes and the enactment of practical and effective Federal and State arbitration laws for the settlement of labor disputes involving public service corporations.

Demand Campaign Accounting

Seventh—We favor further legislation, both national and state, which will definitely determine what campaign expenses, incurred by candidates and their agents, are to be regarded as legitimate, and such laws as will provide for the compulsory publication in detail, under heavy penalties, of such expenses, and especially condemn the clause in the Corrupt Practices act of this state providing for the dissemination of public information which opens wide the door to fraud and corruption.

Eighth—For our public schools we demand legislation bringing them to a state of efficiency unexcelled anywhere, and assisted by such liberal appropriations as will secure this efficiency properly distributed among the people through their chosen and directed school boards; and we ask for legislation which will codify and simplify the school code of the state.

Ninth—We favor appropriation for good roads to the betterment of the highways in this Commonwealth, insisting upon a more economical and workmanlike construction of such roads, and declare that such roads should be built from county centres to accommodate rural districts and the public at large, rather than by constructing a few broad highways across the state. In this regard we condemn contracts to favorites, given for political purposes, and insist upon honest competitive bids and a strict compliance with strictly drawn contracts which will insure honest roads honestly built and free from the control of any political ring or combination.

Tenth—We declare for an amendment of our ballot laws, so that the assistance to voters in the booth be forbidden, the ballot shortened and simplified and absolute secrecy secured in casting the same.

And we further declare for such legislation as will effectually prevent the nomination of minority party candidates by voters of the majority party, by inflicting heavy penalties upon those who falsely and fraudulently represent themselves to be entitled to the minority ballot at primary elections.

Eleventh—We recommend an amendment of the Act of Assembly of the 31st of May, 1907, relating to the Railroad Commission of the Commonwealth, holding that additional power be given to the said Commission to enforce its decisions, decrees and rulings against unjust discriminations in freight or passenger rates, as against any localities or industries of this Commonwealth, or in favor of any particular localities, industries, corporations or individuals within the Commonwealth or beyond the limits thereof. We recommend a like extension of the powers of the State Water Supply Commission.

We find that after prolonged years of Republican rule wages are less, prosperity has decreased and the cost of living greatly increased. We therefore assert that every consideration of public policy and individual interest demands that the State and National Government shall be rescued from the hands of those who have shown themselves incapable of conducting it without disaster, and we ask for the support of our candidates and our principles a united Democracy and the assistance of all our fellow-citizens who are weary of promises and demand performances and seek honest methods and good government.

DON'T COUGH, BUT LIVE LONG

If every cough were cured before it got a strong hold, human life would be lengthened by many years. ### THIS IS CERTAIN

The Proof That Bedford Readers Cannot Deny.

What could furnish stronger evidence of the efficiency of any remedy than the test of time? Thousands of people testify that Doan's Kidney Pills cure permanently.

Home endorsement should prove undoubtedly the merit of this remedy. Years ago your friends and neighbors testified to the relief they had derived from the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. They now confirm their testimonials. They say time has completed the test.

Mrs. Mary J. Corie, 218 E. Pitt St., Bedford, Pa., says: "I was afflicted with backache and other symptoms of kidney trouble for some time and nothing seemed to do any good. The kidney secretions were irregular in passage and my health was badly run down. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills advertised, I obtained a box at John R. Dull's Drug Store and I had not used them long before I found that they lived up to reputations. I am now feeling better in every way, and my kidneys do not trouble me." (Statement given in October 1907.)

A Second Statement

Mrs. Corie was interviewed on November 13, 1909, and she said: "The relief Doan's Kidney Pills gave me has been lasting and I have had no need of a kidney medicine during the past two years. You are at liberty to continue the publication of my statement."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other. June 17-21.

Science in Farming

The farmers of Pennsylvania are showing their faith in agricultural education by sending several hundreds of their sons to the School of Agriculture in the Pennsylvania State College. The growth of this school in this state institution has been remarkable. The criticism made of some state agricultural schools that they train boys wholly away from the farm will not apply to Pennsylvania. One hundred and seventy of the four hundred and seventy-nine students enrolled in the School of Agriculture last year took courses that fit only for rural life, while a considerable percentage of the remaining number, who are taking the four years' college courses, expect to engage in some department of practical farming.

The Two Years' Course in Agriculture attracts young men who have not been able to prepare for a four years' course, and it fits men for practical work only and not for professional life.

A booklet has been prepared for free distribution that describes the work offered in this course, and it presents some fine illustrations that are descriptive of the work in the School of Agriculture. Students are shown engaged in livestock judging, horticultural work and other practical work. An excellent picture of the students engaged in military drill is shown on the last cover page. This attractive booklet may be secured without charge by sending a postal card request addressed to School of Agriculture and Experiment Station, State College, Centre County, Pa. Every young man who wants to know the science of agriculture and its useful application, and who has not had the advantage of school preparation for a four years' college course, should take advantage of this Two Years' Course in the Pennsylvania State College.

"Doan's Ointment cured me of eczema that had annoyed me a long time. The cure was permanent." Hon. S. W. Matthews, Commissioner Labor Statistics, Augusta, Me.

Caramel Pudding

Two cupfuls of golden brown sugar, one and one-quarter cupfuls of water, two heaping teaspoonfuls of cornstarch, butter the size of a hickory nut, one-half teaspoonful of vanilla. Put the sugar and water in a pan and boil. Then add the butter and moistened cornstarch and let boil for three minutes, or till clear. Just before removing from fire add vanilla. Pour in mold or individual dishes and serve cold with whipped cream. This dessert is highly spoken of by all who taste it.

Catarrh Can Quickly Be Cured

A bottle of Hyomei, a hard rubber pocket inhaler, that will last a lifetime, and simple instructions for curing catarrh make a Hyomei outfit. Into the inhaler you pour a few drops of magical Hyomei (pronounced High-o-me).

This is absorbed by the antiseptic gauze within and now you are ready to breathe it over the germ infested membrane where it will speedily begin its work of killing catarrh germs. Hyomei is made of Australian eucalypt combined with other antiseptics and is very pleasant to breathe.

It is guaranteed to cure catarrh, bronchitis, sore throat, croup, coughs and colds, or money back. It cleans out a stuffed up head in a few minutes.

Sold by druggists everywhere, and by F. W. Jordan, Complete outfit $1.00. And remember that extra bottles if afterwards needed cost only 50 cents. Breathe it, that's all. To break up cold in head or chest in a few minutes, pour a teaspoonful of Hyomei into a bowl of boiling water, cover head and bowl with towel and breathe the vapor.

THOUGHTS BY THE WAY

A little knowledge is a dangerous thing because it is likely to remain little.

The only conquests that cause no regrets are those made over hatred. —Napoleon.

We would have no pity for the flowers that have faded had we never known the fragrance of their bloom. —Arthur Lewis.

When a man smiles, and much more when he laughs, it adds something to his fragment of life. —Sterne.

There is no kind of idleness by which we are so easily seduced as that which dignifies itself by the appearance of business. —Johnson.

Our doubts are traitors, And make us lose the good we oft might win, By fearing to attempt.

—Shakespeare.

Rest is not idleness, and to lie sometimes on the grass under the trees on a summer's day listening to the murmur of the water and watching the clouds float across the sky is by no means waste of time. —Lord Avebury.

Be resolutely and faithfully what you are; be humbly what you aspire to be. Man's noblest gift to man is his sincerity, for it embraces his integrity also. —Henry D. Thoreau.

The freedom of the human will is limited to the choice between what a man is forced to regard as good and what he cannot fail to regard as evil, but in this choice he is unfettered. —Baron Stockmar.

CHILDREN'S HAIR

Keep it Clean and Free From Disease by Using Parisian Sage

If you want your children to grow up with strong, sturdy and vigorous hair, teach them to use Parisian Sage; the world renowned Hair Tonic.

Parisian Sage is guaranteed by F. W. Jordan to cure dandruff and stop falling hair in two weeks. It grows new hair quickly in cases where the hair is "thinning out."

It is positively the most delightful, invigorating hair dressing on the market. It is not sticky or greasy and will make the coarsest hair soft, lustrous and luxuriant. Get a 50c bottle from F. W. Jordan and watch how rapid its action.

THE ROBIN

When shadows dark have made the world seem dreary and monotonous

And everything except the sky is blue,

We fancy that the friends we used to know have all forgotten us

And sunny days have all been gotten through,

We think that we have reached a point where even bald civility

Is scarce where comradeship was once so free.

Then we get a salutation from that prince of affability,

The robin who is singing in the tree.

He tells a jaunty story of a million welcome visitors

Who come to join and beautify his song.

The ghosts of introspection slink away like gaunt inquisitors

As hosts of summer sunshine troop along.

He takes the sting from every petty human animosity

Since nature, just as kind as she can be,

Is scattering her treasures with such hearty generosity

For us and for the robin in the tree.

GLAD TO RECOMMEND THEM

Mr. E. Weakley, Kokomo, Ind., says: "After taking Foley Kidney Pills, the severe backache left me, my kidneys became stronger, the secretions natural and my bladder no longer pained me. I am glad to recommend Foley Kidney Pills." In a yellow package. Ed. D. Heckerman.

What the World Wants

Men who cannot be bought.

Men whose word is their bond.

Men who put character above wealth.

Men who possess opinions and will.

Men who see the divine in the common.

Men who are larger than their vocations.

Men who do not hesitate to take chances.

Men who will make no compromise with wrong.

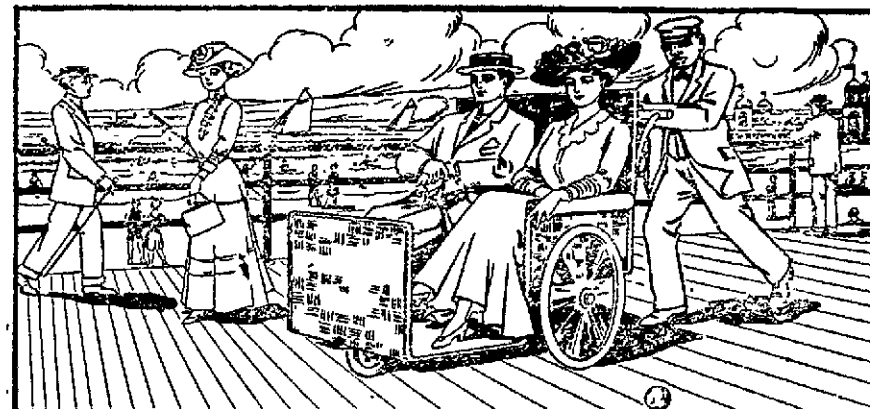

The Conservation of Nature's Resources

Applies as well to our physical state as to material things. C. J. Budlong, Washington, R. I., realized his condition, and took warning before it was too late. He says: "I suffered severely from kidney trouble, the disease being hereditary in our family. I have taken four bottles of Foley's Kidney Remedy, and now consider myself thoroughly cured. This should be a warning to all not to neglect taking Foley's Kidney Remedy until it is too late." Ed. D. Heckerman.

GANDERBONE'S FORECAST FOR JULY

Copyright 1910, by G. H. Rieth.

When the Ballinger trial is ended,
And the jury has said what it thinks;
When the case has been made and defended
With the wonted political winks—
We shall smile—and gads, we shall need to
That feel it as well had been dropped,
And the Guggenheim crowd will proceed to Resume where it was when it stopped.
The signs shall come down in the timber,
And the patents shall tie up the coal.
The law will get flabby and limber,
And the trusts will de well on the whole.
It always turns out in that manner,
Although we may blush to confess it,
And we do not regard it a banner
Achievement, exactly, to guess it.

July is a tribute to Caesar. One day, with some other insurgents, he talked by the Pillar of Pompey on things of political urgency. He was just on the point of explaining the key to some government riddle when a party of regulars jumped him and cut him in two in the middle.
There was Decius Brutus, the speaker, and Cassius, boss of the Senate, together with others insistent upon some political tenet. "The party forever!" they shouted, and what with that terrible slasher Servilius Casca great Caesar as well had been run through a hash.

At any rate, Antony found him cut up into fodder for fishes, and begged this request of the Romans, who granted the least of his wishes. And thus it has happened and shall be so long as the Tiber runs by the Pillar of Pompey that Caesar shall live in the name of July.

The Fourth shall return to discover
Us waiting in battle array
And what with one thing and another
Regretting we won, anyway.
The cannon shall boom, and the scramble
For things on the medicine shelves
Shall warn inexperienced countries
Aspiring to freedom themselves.

The dynamite cap and the rocket shall remind us of tyranny thwarted,
and the valiant forefather shall turn
in his coffin to see what he started.
The eagle shall mount on his pinions
and circle the North and the South, and the rapid-fire orator stand on the platform and shoot off his mouth.

This latter, however, is harmless
in a strict pathological way, but remains notwithstanding an evil we must in due season ally. Alas, how deficient is nature that might lay this pest on the shelf with ruling that shooting his mouth off he gave the lockjaw to himself!

This tetanus, we are quite certain,
has good and defensible uses, and all of its manifestations thus far have been only abuses. The idea, as we regard it, is not that it should be the cause of any more serious matter than locking the orator's jaws.

You know that we never hear of it except on the Fourth of July, and whenever some innocent gets it we forever are wondering why. Well, this is the fact of the matter, and by Jove, we are willing to bet it turns out in the long run that no one but a lot of old wind-jammers get it.

However, be that as it may be,

And get whom the tetanus will,
The jubilant youth of the nation
Will resume with its shooting to kill.

The safe and the sane celebration
Will suit us who are not so skittish,
But the youngsters have got to do something
To show what we did to the British.

There never was anything safe in the way the forefathers attacked them, and as for the saner attainments, the old fellows seem to have lacked them. They simply cast fear to the bowwows and waded into the affray, and a boy does not think himself worthy if he can't shoot himself, anyway.

At any rate, Jeffries and Johnson will growl like a couple of poodles and observe independence with beating the hair off their mutual noodles.
They'll alternate making the other leviathan howl for his mother, and if the country at random is lucky they'll manage to kill one another.

It's only a plan to make money, deserving the strictest of strictures, for what they will have, is a race war,
dividing what's made on the pictures.
We've been pretty mad in this country for dollars, and power, and places,
but this is the first time we've trafficked upon the abyss between races.

The fat occupant of the White House
Will lie on his back in the grass
Beneath the green Beverly maples
Observing the aeroplanes pass.
The chauffeurs will keep right on chauffing,

With seeing it's no one but Bill,
And they'll sigh just to think what had happened
Had they flown over Sagamore Hill.

But not every man can be Caesar,
as someone had stated, alas! and in the due course of the matter somebody must lie in the grass. It's hard on a strenuous nation, afflicting us all in a way, but we'll look on the brighter side of it, and conclude it is good for the hay.

However, Time flies is a proverb,

And one day, his foot on his gong
And his engine back-pedaling, August
Will come aeroplaning along.

SCARED INTO SOUND HEALTH

Mr. B. F. Kelley, Springfield, Ill., writes: "A year ago I began to be troubled with my kidneys and bladder, which grew worse until I became alarmed at my condition. I suffered also with dull headaches and the action of my bladder was annoying and painful. I read of Foley's Kidney Pills and after taking them a few weeks
the headaches left me, the action of my bladder was again normal, and I was free of all distress." Ed. D. Heckerman.

How the Kaiser Exposed a Dishonest Professor.

Many tales are told of the Kaiser's school days, and one of them, at least,
is illuminating. A professor, it is said, wishing to curry favor with his royal pupil, informed him overnight of the chapter in Xenophon that was to be made the subject of the next day's lesson. The young prince did what many boys would not have done.
He entered the classroom directly after it was opened on the following morning, and wrote conspicuously on the blackboard the information that had been given him. One may say unhesitatingly that a boy capable of such action had the root of a fine character in him. Such a boy possesses that chivalrous sense of fair play which is the nearest thing to religion that may be looked for at that age hates meanness and favoritism, and wherever possible, exposes them. There is in him a fundamental bent toward whatever is clean,
manly and aboveboard. — Sydney
Brooks in the July McClure's.

WHAT A SUMMER COLD MAY DO

A summer cold if neglected is just as apt to develop into bronchitis or pneumonia as at any other season.
Do not neglect it. Take Foley's Honey and Tar promptly. It loosens the cough, soothes and heals the inflamed air passages, and expels the cold from the system." Ed. D. Heckerman.

HECKERMAN LETTER

Dad in the Blue-Grass State—Interesting Observations.

Frankfort, Ky., June 18, 1910.

This is the capital of the Blue Grass State, a state that I like to travel in notwithstanding its feuds and family quarrels. These people are the largest hearted ones in the world, I believe, and when they shake hands with you they give you the whole hand and not merely the tips of the fingers. If they do not have chicken and pound cake to give you when you call at meal time they give you fat meat and Kentucky hoe-cake, or the best they have, and they give it to you with a hearty good will and say take, eat and be welcome.

Ten days ago the new capitol that has just been erected was dedicated.
There is neither nine millions nor nine dollars of graft tacked on to this. It was built by honest labor and the architect and contractors were Kentuckians, and that means right much. I have not inspected it and shall not have time to do so this trip. This is a very pretty city but in many ways is behind the times, yet those living here and those who come here realize that it is a Kentucky town. There are two railroads here,
the L. and N. and the C. and O., but I'll bet my white vest that neither could get up 36 car loads of people and bring them to the city much less to a county seat. This is thirty miles from Lexington. A trolley connects the two cities besides the two steam roads referred to above; it makes the run in ninety minutes and the country through which it passes is the finest blue grass country in the world; the horses tell the story.

Thousands of acres are just now being planted in tobacco and the many large wheat fields tell me that some other kind of bread is eaten here besides Kentucky hoe-cake or corn dodgers. I don't like either and much prefer Schech's Bedford bread.
I see many fancy horses though I am told the eastern people have too much money for those having handsome blue-breds and well-gaited saddle horses and that they cannot keep them. I see more sheep on this trip than on former trips. Lambs are of equal value in weight to silver, they say, so if John McGirr asks you 25 cents per pound for lamb chops, don't kick.

This is the section in which the farmers raise much hemp. I have never seen it when first sown, but it grows in shape much like a buggy whip and it requires much handling before it is ready for market. In some of the mountain sections cedar grows. This is very scarce now and the lead pencil manufacturers are buying or rather trading the farmer wire fence, the best kind, and in some instances have put it up, in lieu of the old cedar rails; it is a common thing to see a number of ox or mule teams well loaded with old fence rails (cedar) on their way to the stations. I could not understand this until I was told about their swapping
these to the Eagle and other lead pencil firms. Why, most of the new cedar that is now being sold, is sold by weight, and to buy the same by the cord would be impossible. No more cedar posts or telegraph poles;
too valuable.

When in Lexington the other day
I took a trolley ride out East Main Street. It passes the Henry Clay farm and the conductor pointed out the home that the venerable statesman lived in. In all my travels I never saw any company have such poor cars as the one operating in Lexington, and the tracks, well they are the roughest yet! One cannot sit still; the motion of the cars, bobbing up and down, throws one way up off
the seat. My, but they are rough!
but some one says that is the best way to have them, as they shake a drunken man so much that it sobers him. How about those who do not drink and of course need no sobering up?

This is a glorious day, nice and warm and almost clear. 'Tis the first nice day for over a week. Why, during last week I saw railroads washed out and on one occasion we ran through water up to the first step on passenger coaches.

After leaving Campbellville, Ky., one morning last week in a very hard rain, the train stopped in the tunnel.
Well, that of itself was not at all pleasant, so we all with one accord began asking questions and craning
our necks to see through the darkness as to the cause of the stop. By and by we were told that the heavy rain had washed a lot of dirt, logs, etc., down on the track just at the mouth of the tunnel, and we must be patient until the track was cleaned off.

This was all right for those who had their breakfast, but the train left Campbellville at 5:14 and breakfast before that would not have been acceptable to Dad, who had his appetite with him and this he wanted to leave at the Bobbitts House in Lebanon, Ky., just twenty miles from where he started. By and by the debris was cleared off and we started again and all went well for half a mile when the track was washed away. Here we had another delay.
The rivers were all very high.

We have had very cold weather down here since April 15. March and April to the 15th were fine and dandy; even yesterday there was a bright fire burning in the fireplace at the hotel. I saw men with overcoats on and ladies with heavy wraps, while Dad stood shivering.

Trade of all kinds is on the boom in all the South. Some complain about their collections being slow,
yet the major part of the jobbers say they are getting their money in fairly promptly. My business was fairly good; 980 cases Fort Bedfords and 175 cases of Fort Bedford P-ut butter besides some salteds, thus aggregating 80,500—not so bad for poor old Dad.

Yours truly,

M. P. Heckerman.

Baby won't suffer five minutes with croup if you apply Dr. Thomas' Eclectic Oil at once. It acts like magic.

The Trees For Your Country Home

Plant English trees for late autumn. The English oak, the Scotch elm, the English beech and the European linden all come to us with established habits that they do not easily yield. They hold their leaves in autumn for two or three weeks longer than American trees of the same sort. King Charlie's oak and the Scotch elm give us their russet leaves until well into the edge of winter—
the oak sometimes all winter.

In Florida I find that the water oak and the persimmon and the blackjack oak are to be reckoned with for midwinter foliage. The persimmon gives us a fine show of mixed scarlet and yellow, while the black jack, a little later in December, is gorgeous with its motley hues. This sort of foliage is hardly disposed of before the sweet gum and the sugar maple put on their spring foliage and their crimson blossoms.—E. P. Powell in July Outing.

A Low Rating in Prospect

Little Mildred in her first term at school where she gets reports as to her standing marked on a decimal scale. One hundred is perfect, and sixty is pretty serious. The other night while saying her evening prayers, he spirits, always high, were actually irrepressible, and her petition was punctuated with snickers and smothered giggles.

"Do you think the Lord will like that kind of a prayer?" asked her mother reproachfully.

"Nope," returned Mildred glibly.
"Not much! He'll gimme 'bout sixty on that!"—From Woman's Home Companion for July.

Falling Hair

Ayer's Hair Vigor promptly destroys the germs that cause falling hair. It nourishes the hair-bulbs, restores them to health. The hair stops falling out, grows more rapidly.

Dandruff

Ayer's Hair Vigor just as promptly destroys the germs that cause dandruff. It removes every trace of dandruff itself, and keeps the scalp clean and in a healthy condition.

Does not Color the Hair

We wish you to positively and distinctly understand that Ayer's Hair Vigor does not affect the color of the hair, even to the slightest degree. Persons with the whitest or the lightest and most delicate blond hair may use it freely without having the hair made a shade darker.

THE LAND OF SUNSHINE

C. M. Berkheimer Delighted With California Life.

Los Angeles, Cal.
Dear Editor: I have just been reading The Gazette and wondered if "Peeps" Heckerman ever visited
"The City of the Lost Angels," and wrote up the town and things? He would be able to make it look as fine
as a painted picture post-card, I am sure.

I have been from ocean to ocean and have visited many of the pretty places in this country and Canada,
but Los Angeles has them all
"skinned." It has a population of about 300,000, and about 250,- 000 of these people are gathered here from the eastern portion of the United States. A certain percentage of the people are Japanese and Chinese.

Los Angeles has the finest street car system in the world. It is a city of homes, and wealth, and beauty and pleasure. Of all the flowers and fruit, one seldom sees the like. No winter; no thunder storms here.
There are five months in summer that it hardly rains at all. In the winter we have about 60,000 visitors and in the summer have thousands of "furnished rooms to let." California is a state of hotels and many of them are named after the eastern states and cities "by people from the east who come here and build hotels for other people from the east."

Los Angeles has many beautiful parks and, besides, there are many places of interest nearby, so than one can be on the go all the time if he so desires. Busch's flower gardens, located 10 miles out of Pasadena, are the finest in the world and a real dream.

Every summer the people here
from the various states hold a picnic for the people of that state. The Illinois folks held theirs the 28th of last month. The Pennsylvanians are to hold theirs early in August, I understand. There are a number of people here from Bedford County, who attend the outing on Pennsylv-vania day. I have not met any one yet from the county except Mrs. John W. Imbler, whose husband used to conduct the Brice Hardware Store in Bedford. They live at Tropico, five miles out.

'EXTRACTS FROM "SPEED"

He is the real hero who doesn't realize it.

Do good to them that hate you,— and pretty soon they won't.

Fear of failure never started a man
on the road to success.

What a sorry state the world would be in, if all men were great leaders!

It does no harm to let a little milk of human kindness slop over the sides of the bottle once in a while.

Only fools never know fear. Only cowards submit to it.

There is all the difference in the world between a dream and a plan.

When a man is set in his ways he is not apt to hatch out any new ideas.

A woman's idea of heaven is a place where she will always be popular.

The Real Good

"What is the real good?"

I asked in musing mood.

'Order,' said the law court;

'Knowledge,' said the school;

'Truth,' said the wise man;

'Pleasure,' said the fool;

'Love,' said the maiden;

'Beauty,' said the page;

'Freedom,' said the dreamer;

'Home,' said the sage;

'Fame,' said the soldier;

'Equity,' the seer—

Spake my heart full sadly:

'The answer is not here.'

Then within my bosom

Softly this I heard:

'Each heart holds the secret,

'Kindness' is the word.'"

In Praise of Labor

By labor the earth has been subdued, and man redeemed from barbarism; nor has a single step in civilization been made without it. Labor is not only a necessity and a duty,
but a blessing.—Smiles.

THE NAMING OF REYNOLDS

The Republican State Convention is not to be too severely censured for placing the name of John M. Reynolds on the ticket for Lieutenant Governor for the honor is said to have "gone a begging." It is said to have been offered to another Bedford gentleman who ran away from it, as did half a dozen others, and when finally it was proffered to "Rube" Waddell, of baseball fame, and also fame in other lines, and he took to the "tall timber," they were in a quandary and—took up Reynolds, the Hon. John M. Reynolds, who can take his fellowman by the right hand, look him straight in the eyes and make a "personal pledge" which he can as readily break as a "political promise," and who failed in a Congressional fight to carry his home ward, his home town and his home county, all of which are Republican; a man designated by a great city daily as "absolutely colorless" in Congress—but after all he'll suit Mr. Penrose.

THE DENUNCIATION OF MUNSON

The delegates to the Democratic State Convention at Allentown last week were thrown into confusion during the evening preceding the convention by rumors that Cyrus LaRue Munson would not accept the gubernatorial nomination which he had a chance to secure. He was one of four prominently mentioned for the place and his exceptional ability as a lawyer, which would have enabled him as Governor to discriminate between good and bad legislation and to offer suggestions to the Legislature, together with his clean record in politics and the strength he showed as a candidate for a seat on the bench of the Supreme Court of the state, made him a formidable candidate.

With the tide, to some extent at least, in his favor, the withdrawal of his name at the eleventh hour and his failure to turn up in Allentown caused many to think and talk of a deal. His movements for several days prior to the convention—and the men he came in contact with, according to reports afloat there—added strength to the report of a deal, and many there were who openly stated it as their belief that he had entered into an agreement with Senator Penrose, leader of the Republican Machine, by which, in consideration for his withdrawing or withholding his name he was to receive an appointment upon the bench of a Federal court through President Taft.

But there is another theory we were informed, and we believe reliably, by a delegate at the convention that Mr. Munson invested his all in the judgeship campaign of last year, and that certain gentlemen had promised to make good these expenses; that Mr. Munson confidently expected that their promise would be kept; hence remained in the fight until the last minute; that having at that late date failed to receive their check and being unable personally to finance another campaign he had nothing left to do but to withdraw.

If the first theory as to the cause of his withholding the presentation of his name be the true one, he is unworthy the Democratic nomination for Governor and should join the party of the man with whom he entered into the compact; if it be true he is neither a patriot nor a good citizen and would be a disgrace to the Federal bench.

But again, if the second theory is true, and we believe it is, he is to be pitied. If his "personal reasons" are his financial condition he cannot be blamed for his action, and he is one among thousands that would bear the adverse criticism of the newspapers and not make public a statement that would remove the odium, although it would show up those who failed to keep their promise to bear those campaign expenses and thus allow him to lift the mortgages that prevented his accepting the gubernatorial nomination.

We believe the whole matter will be cleared up—an untill clearing up is done we accept the advice of Sancho Panza,—"When justice is doubtful we should lean toward mercy"—for we still have faith in the man whose integrity up to the time of the Allentown convention was never questioned.

Trustees Glad They Paid More

The Trustees of Fair Ground, Cobleskill, N. Y., were glad to pay 15 cents a gallon more for Devoe; and no wonder. Two other paint agents said it would take 150 gallons of their paint to cover the buildings.

The Devoe agent put it at 125 or less. It took 115.

Devoe saved them 35 gallons of paint and painting (worth $4 to $5 a gallon, as the painting costs two or three times as much as the paint) less 15 cents a gallon on 115 gallons. Say $140.

That's how to count the cost of paint. The cost of putting it on is $3 or $4 a gallon. You see what that means. Go by Devoe.

DAVIDSON BROTHERS

Reign of the Eternal "No" at Washington.

In his article "The Measure of Taft" in the July American Magazine, Ray Stannard Baker draws a very remarkable comparison between the temperament, methods and point of view of President Taft and those of his predecessor. He says in part: "In another way the tendency of his administration has been to dampen and destroy the patriotic ardor for the public good which came to be so much a factor during Roosevelt's time in the various Executive branches of the government. Under Roosevelt what a stir of activity marked the Bureau of Corporations, the Pure Food work, the Reclamation Service, the Department of Justice, the Inter-State Commerce Commission, the Forestry Department—in fact, the whole government service! How quiet they are now! Under Roosevelt men would all but work their heads off in the public service; but under Taft, if a man displays undue enthusiasm, he may lose his head in another way. Glavis, fighting to save the people's lands, is angrily and peremptorily discharged without being fairly heard; Pinchot, one of the greatest public servants developed in this country in years, is forced out of his office; Garfield goes; Dr. Wiley is reversed; Shaw and Price pay the wages of enthusiasm, and Newell and Davis, of the Reclamation Service, are saved only by the utmost pressure.

"Under such conditions," the head of a government bureau said to me, "do you think any man is going to risk his job by any originality or enthusiasm? Not much."

"No one who visits Washington from time to time can have failed to see the change in the esprit de corps. The eternal 'No' seems now to reign in Washington."

The Fourth at Altoona

Not for a long time has Altoona indulged in a big old-fashioned Fourth of July celebration; not, indeed, since the days of the volunteer fire department, when the demonstration usually took the form of a firemen's parade, picnic, etc. For years back the people of Altoona have been content to let other more ambitious cities and towns do the celebrating, and at the same time acquired the habit of going away from home to assist other communities in making these patriotic events enjoyable and successful. But this year Altoona is going to hold the biggest Independence Day celebration in her history, if not the most important ever held in the interior of the state, and she invites everybody, and particularly the people of Central Pennsylvania and other parts reached by easy railroad connections, to join the throng of visitors on that day. At least 50,000 are expected, and Altoona can easily entertain that number.

The program for the celebration already arranged includes a monster street parade, in which a battalion of the National Guard, civic societies, school children, volunteer firemen and fanatics will take part, along with a complete industrial display on floats. Between thirty-five and forty musical bands will be in line, among them the famous Repaz Military Band of Williamsport. During the day the Altoona and Johnstown Tri-State baseball teams will meet at Columbia Park, and there will be horse racing at the Driving Park and theatricals, dancing and boating at Lakemont, Altoona's far-famed summer park. In the evening the Pain Fire Works Company of New York will give a two hours' display of magnificent fire works, including sixty-seven set pieces. The display will be given on Hospital Hill, a most advantageous location, early enough for the enjoyment of visitors who may be obliged to leave the city the same evening. The entire celebration is planned on the safe and sane idea, and will be carried out that way.

Special trains will be run to Altoona on the Fourth from Lock Haven, Huntingdon, Clearfield, Bedford, Cumberland and Johnstown and there will be excursion trains from all points.

In writing to advertisers kindly mention the fact that you saw their ad in The Gazette.

Pleasantville

June 22—The continuous heavy rains have been detrimental to the crops in this community. Corn is small and poorly set; grass is thin and short in the lowlands; oats is good and wheat is reasonably good after so hard a winter.

Well, the new railroad has brought us in closer touch with the outside world, and our mail service will be elegant; under the new schedule we will get morning and afternoon mail, for which we are thankful.

The I. O. O. F. memorial service was a success notwithstanding the wet weather. Saturday morning, June 18, the town adorned itself with its Sunday attire. Flags and bunting floated from all of the business places and from nearly all of the households, and by 9 o'clock the people began to gather in motor cars, buggies and wagons. The Pavia Band was early on the ground to render music for the occasion. At 11 o'clock the hacks arrived from the station with their loads of humanity, and Chief Marshal W. A. McGregor formed the parade in front of the hall and marched to the Lutheran Church, where they were called to order by Master of Ceremonies, Dr. Paul Eaton, when the choir sang the opening ode. Devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. T. N. Eaton, D. D., of Mount Pleasant. The address of welcome was delivered by Prof. L. H. Hinkle of Pleasantville Lodge, No. 868. And the response was delivered by Rev. G. W. King of Schellsburg Lodge, No. 870. Both the addresses were good and were well received by the hearers, and will surely have an effect for the good on all those who heard them. After a selection of music by the choir the meeting adjourned till 1:45 p. m. When that hour arrived the large church was crowded to its full capacity and a large number could not get in.

The Master of Ceremonies called the house to order and the choir rendered a piece of music. Devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. Chambers of Pleasantville. Dr. Eaton then introduced Past Grand Master B. H. Hart, D. D., who held the audience spellbound for 45 minutes; his remarks were straight from the heart and backed by facts that could not be contradicted by a sane mind. In truth he did lift the lid of Oddfellowship and let every person look in that was present.

The following lodges were represented: Hollidaysburg, No. 119; Bedford, No. 202; Cove, No. 368; Altoona, No. 473; Claysburg, No. 713; Schellsburg, No. 870; St. Clairsville, No. 922; Buffalo Mills, No. 996; Windber, No. 1058; Johnstown, No. 1044. Pleasantville Lodge extends thanks to all parties who rendered assistance to bring about the great success, and especially to the choir for their fine music, and to the good Lutherans for the use of their church.

Frederick Steckman

Frederick Steckman, an aged and respected resident of the Third Ward of Altoona and a veteran employee of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, died at his home, 1405 Seventeenth Avenue, at 5:25 o'clock Wednesday morning of Bright's disease. He had been in failing health for the past six months but it was only within the past couple weeks that his condition became alarming and grew gradually worse until he passed away. Deceased was born in Bedford County on August 23, 1831, and had resided in Altoona for a period of forty years. He was for many years employed as a car builder by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company and nine years ago by reason of his having reached the age limit was placed on the retired list. He was the last surviving member of his family, was married in his youth to Miss Margaret Calvert, who preceded him to the grave in 1890. He is survived by one son, Harry M. Steckman, of Altoona. The funeral will take place this afternoon, services to be conducted at the house at 2 o'clock. Interment in Fairview Cemetery, Altoona.

Eye-Sight Specialist

DR. J. N. HELMAN

OF PITTSBURG, PA.,

Will be in the following towns in Bedford County, next week:

SCHELLSBURG

Monday, June 27, from 12 o'clock noon until 8 p. m., at the Hotel.

NEW PARIS

Wednesday, June 29, from 12 o'clock noon until 8 p. m., at the Hotel.

OSTERBURG

Friday, July 1, from 12 o'clock noon until 8 p. m., at the Hotel.

NEW BUENA VISTA

Tuesday, June 28, from 12 o'clock noon until 8 p. m., at the Hotel.

ALUM BANK

Thursday, June 30, from 12 o'clock noon until 8 p. m., at the Hotel.

ST. CLAIRSVILLE

Saturday, July 2, from 12 o'clock noon until 8 p. m., at the Hotel.

On account of the many requests from the towns surrounding Bedford, Dr. Helman has decided to make a visit to the above towns next week, giving those who have been unable to see him during his regular visits to Bedford, a chance to consult him without the necessity of coming to the county seat. This will be the only trip of this kind in those towns, and the other visits are made monthly at the Waverly Hotel, Bedford. Dr. Helman started to visit Bedford over three years ago and has fitted over 600 people during his visits.

EXAMINATIONS ARE FREE. Prices from $2 to $8. All lenses guaranteed for two years, and any change or recorection made within that time is free of charge. No drops or drugs used.

Defective Sight

The three most common errors of refraction are Hypermetropia (or far sight), Myopia (or near sight) and astigmatism; they are the result of a deformity in the shape of the eye-ball, and can only be corrected by wearing glasses. A great many people who suffer with headaches and nervousness, have perfect vision, but the muscles, to attain this, are constantly out of a strain, and the result is a dull feeling above or behind the eyes, scratching or sandy sensation in the eye-balls, or a periodic sick or nervous headache. If a child has any defect in the shape of the eye, it often results in cross-eyes, granulated lids and styes.

When You Require Glasses

If you suffer with headaches, either sick or nervous. If your eyes tire easily while reading, sewing or doing close work. When they feel like there is sand in them, or burn or smart. When the letters blur or run together in reading. If you squint or frown to see more distinctly. If you hold reading matter very close or very far away. The above are a few of the more easily recognized symptoms of the eye-strain. Nothing is gained by neglect. They should be looked after at the first sign of trouble. Have them examined—it may mean perfect eyes in the future.

June 22—Mrs. M. M. Whetstone returned home last week from a visit of several weeks with friends at Johnstown.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Vaupel and daughter Evelyn, of Baltimore, are guests of C. B. Culp and family.

The Presbyterian Church was struck by lightning Sunday evening and considerably damaged, both inside and outside.

Miss Stella Colvin spent last Saturday with friends at Alum Bank.

Quite a number of Odd Fellows and other people attended the funeral of William Blattenberger of Fishertown on Sunday.

David B. Ealy of Pittsburgh came home sick on Wednesday.

Centreville

June 22—We have been having some fearful electrical storms the last ten days. One passed over the valley yesterday from west to east; it was terrific. The thunder, lightning, rain and hail was fearful. A number of trees were struck by lightning and there were numerous fields furrowed and meadows washed over.

Cherries are very plentiful and fine; they are at least ten days earlier this year than usual.

The farmers are kept out of their corn fields on account of the wet weather.

Mr. and Mrs. Asa Diehl, of Bedford, arrived in our village yesterday for a stay of a week. Asa is going to build a porch for John Gephart. There have been more persons having broken bones this spring than was ever known here. There are six different persons nursing injuries at this time.

The Union Sunday School Convention will be held in the M. P. Church Saturday, June 25, afternoon and night.

The ball game Saturday between Rainsburg and Centreville resulted in a victory for the Centreville team, 3 to 0. It was a well-played game. There will be a ball game here Saturday afternoon, Centreville vs. Pinto. Two games will be played July 4, at 9:30 and 2:30; Centreville vs. Bedford Road team, near Cumberland.

Three Weddings

It has been said "June is the month of roses." In our vicinity June is the month of weddings. On Wednesday, June 15, at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Laura V. Blackburn, Miss Lavina A. Blackburn and James A. Ralston of Wilmerding were united in marriage by Rev. G. W. King. On the same day at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Davis, their eldest daughter, Miss Margaret Davis, was united in matrimony to Lloyd R. Ford of Swissvale by Rev. J. B. Miller. On the following day, June 16, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Richards, their youngest daughter, Miss Alice C. Richards, and Ben Keyser Crow of Point Marion were united in marriage by Rev. Hogan.

All of the above brides were school teachers in Bedford County for a number of terms. The former couple will locate at Wilmerding, Mr. Ralston being a clerk in the employ of the Westinghouse Air Brake Company; the second couple will locate at Swissvale, Mr. Ford being an employee of the public works at that place; and the latter couple will locate at Point Marion, Mr. Crow being a dentist by profession. We wish our girls a pleasant time in their new homes, and may success crown their matrimonial days.

A CHINESE WEDDING.

As Solemn as a Funeral, With the Women All Weeping.

A Chinese marriage is all ceremony—no talk, no levity and much crying. The solemnity of a funeral prevails. After the exchange of presents the bride is dressed with much care in a red gown, brocade or silk if she can get it; her eyelashes are painted a deep black, and she wears a heavy red veil attached to a scarlet headpiece from which imitation pearls are pendant over the forehead.

A feast is spread upon a table to which the blushing bride is led by five of her best female friends. They are seated at the table, but no one can get it; her eyelashes are painted a deep black, and she wears a heavy red veil attached to a scarlet headpiece from which imitation pearls are pendant over the forehead.

The bridegroom now enters, with four of his best men. The men pick up the throne on which the bride sits and, preceded by the bridegroom, form in procession and walk around the room or into an adjoining parlor, signifying that he is carrying her away to his own home. The guests then throw rice at the happy couple, a custom we have borrowed from the heathen.—St. James' Gazette.

CHEST NOTES.

Varying Sounds That May Be Heard Through the Stethoscope.

The doctor hears some curious noises when he places the stethoscope against your chest. When the lungs are in a healthy condition the medical gentleman hears a pleasant, breezy sound, soft in tone, as you draw in the breath and expel it. Should the instrument convey to his ear a gurgling or bubbling sound he makes a mental note of the fact that you are in what is known as the moist stage of bronchitis. In the dry stage of the same complaint the sound is a whistling, wheezy one.

One of the signs of pneumonia is the crackling note that comes through the stethoscope. It is not unlike the sound that can be heard when your finger and thumb have touched a sticky substance and you first place them together and then part them, holding them close to your ear.

Doctors occasionally hear a dripping sound, and that indicates that air and water have got into some part of the chest where they have no right to be. Blow across a bottle, and you will produce a sound which is actually to be heard in your chest. It is caused in the same way—that is, by air passing over a cavity.

Filipino Buglers.

"Speaking of buglers," says Boat-swain Juraschka in his article, "Captured by Filipinos," in Wide World Magazine, "it astonished me to find that the insurgents had so many buglers and that many of them were of the best. They knew all our army calls, although they did not know their significance. I was often asked the meaning of various calls and was careful to give them any but the proper one. One insurgent colonel asked me what call was sounded as the retreat from the charge. I told him that we had no such call, but that the charge once sounded, American soldiers and sailors went through or never came back. He was very much interested and with good reason, as he had just escaped from the attack of our men. He said that charging was unfair—it, both sides should simply snipe at each other."

So He Would.

A little country girl visited city relatives who dwell in a flat. Her visit lasted two weeks, and all of the time they were warning her not to make so much noise, not to run across the street and not to waken the people in the adjoining flats. In fact, they were constantly curtailing her freedom. When she got home she told her papa she never wanted to go to the city again, and he said:

"You must have had a hard time of it. You do look hollow eyed."

"Well, papa," she said, "if you had folks hollerin' at you all the time you'd look hollow eyed too"—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Not Ambiguous at All.

In one of England's elections a candidate for parliament, the late Lord Bath, called attention to himself by means of a donkey, over whose back two panniers were slung bearing a ribbon band on which was printed "Vote For Papa." It must be added, however, that in each pannier stood one of Lord Bath's daughters.

Sightseeing.

On a visit to his grandmother Harry examined her handsome furniture with interest and then asked, "Grandma, where is the miserable table that papa says you always keep?"—Success Magazine.

THE MIRROR TONIC.

When a Peek into a Hand Glass May Help a Patient.

The looking glass, whether a plus or a minus quantity, plays a more important part in the sickroom than most nurses and physicians give it credit for.

"All things considered, I think it a good plan to give a sick person a chance to look at himself occasionally," said a prominent doctor recently. "Of course the indulgence must be granted with discretion. If a patient is really looking seedy a turn at the looking glass is equivalent to signing his death warrant, but if taken at a time when braced up by some stimulant or a natural ebullition of vitality force a few minutes of co-munion with his own visage begets any tonic I can prescribe. It thrills the patient with new hope. It makes him feel that he isn't quite so far gone as he has thought and that possibly a fight for life is, after all, worth while. Being thus sensitive, a persistent withholding of a mirror convinces the patient that he must be too horrible for contemplation, and he promptly decides that the best thing for him to do is to give up the ghost and get out of the way."

"That is one of the mistakes hospitals were apt to make up to a few years ago. When I was a young fellow getting my first practice after graduation I served on the staff of several hospitals, and in all, especially in the free wards, those aids to vanity were strictly forbidden."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

THE TIPPING HABIT.

It Was Worse in the Eighteenth Century Than It Is Now.

The tipping habit is bad enough nowadays, but in the eighteenth century it was a greater evil than it is at the present time. A writer in the Cornhill Magazine tells some stories to illustrate the old condition of things.

In Edinburgh in 1760 tipping became such an evil that the Society of Clerks enacted that all servants should be forbidden to take tips and members be forbidden to give them. This example was followed by other clubs and societies. Today there is a rule in most clubs against tipping the servants.

An eccentric Irish gentleman, Lord Taaffe, used to attend his guests to the door, and if they offered any money to the servants who were lined up with the guests' baggage the host would say, "If you give, give it me, for it was I that did buy the dinner."

A well known colonel while sitting at dinner inquired the names of the host's servants. "For," said he, "I cannot pay them for such a good dinner, but I should like to remember them in my will."

Another eccentric gentleman after patiently redeeming his bat, sword, cane and cloak to the very bottom of his purse turned to the two remaining servants who were waiting obsequiously, each with a glove, and said affably: "Keep those. I will not trouble to buy them back. They are old and not worth a shilling."

A King's Trick.

King Gustavus III. of Sweden had been frequently invited to the little court of Schwerin. In 1783 he paid a visit to Germany, and as soon as the Duchess of Mecklenburg heard of his approach she prepared fetes in his honor. But Gustavus, who disdained the petty courtesies of the small rulers, sent two of his attendants—a page named Peyron and Desvrouges, a valet who had formerly been an actor—to be entertained by the duchess. The two personated the king and his minister, Baron Sparre, and sustained the characters throughout. They accepted as their due all the homage meant for their master, danced with the Mecklenburg ladies who were presented to them, and Peyron went so far as to ask one of the ladies for her portrait. Meantime Gustavus was enjoying himself elsewhere in secret.

Richmond Castle.

Richmond castle was originally one of the strongest of Norman keeps. It was probably founded by Alan Rufus, one of the sons of the Duke of Brittany, who took a prominent part in the suppression of the Saxons. At a later age the castle passed into the possession of Edmund Tudor, who married Margaret Beaufort and became the father of Henry VII. Henry was born Earl of Richmond, and he bestowed the title upon the magnificent palace which when king of England he built upon the banks of the Thames. Thus the Richmond of cockneys has a comparatively modern origin. The curfew, by the way, is still rung from the tower of Richmond castle at 6 a. m. and 8 p. m. custom "that has continued ever since the time of William the Conqueror."—London Globe.

Game in Manchuria.

The long narrow tiger is found throughout Manchuria wherever there is hilly country, but is never found on the plains. It is extremely difficult to bag and is by no means numerous. In addition to tiger the following game may be found in Manchuria: Bear (black and brown), wapiti, Sika deer (two species), roe deer, serow, wild pig, leopard and lynx. All, however, are scarce and hard to bag, with the exception of roe deer and pig.—London Field.

rests, towel rack, and every up-to-date feature imaginable. You want it, because it will cook any dinner and not heat the room. No heat, no smell, no smoke, no coal to bring in, no ashes to carry out. It does away with the drudgery of cooking, and makes it a pleasure. Women with the light touch for pastry especially appreciate it, because they can immediately have a quick fire, simply by turning a handle. No half-hour preparation. It not only is less trouble than coal, but it costs less. Absolutely no smell, no smoke; and it doesn't heat the kitchen.

The nickel finish, with the turquoise blue of the enameled chimneys, makes the stove ornamental and attractive. Made with 1, 2 and 3 burners; the 2 and 3-burner stoves can be had with or without Cabinet.

The New Fad in Handkerchiefs—Return of the Short Sleeve.

One can find fine bargains in extremely pretty handkerchiefs included in the white sales at all department stores. A new fancy is for the all over embroidered design. These come in plaids and checks in all white and white embroidered in colors.

The return of the short sleeve just now is one of the surprises of the mode, but that it is well established is guaranteed by its prevalence in both dressy gowns and coats. There is the seven-eighths length, near the lower wrist; three-quarters, halfway between wrist and elbow, and half length, at the elbow and even above that point. Many of the linen coats of an elaborate nature have three-quarters or seven-eighths sleeves.

The lingerie blouse that is made with a square yoke is one of the latest

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Lesson XIII.—Second Quarter, For June 26, 1910.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Matt. xiii, 24-30, 36-43—Memory Verses, 37, 38—Golden Text, Matt. xiii, 43—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

In the second phase of this present age, the mysteries of the kingdom set forth in the parable of the tares of the field, our Lord so plainly states that both will grow together until the harvest, and that the harvest is the end of the age, that it is impossible to understand how any one believing His word can look for a kingdom during this age in which the will of God shall be done on earth as it is done in heaven. The expression "the end of the world" (verses 39, 40, 49; xxiv, 3; xxviii, 20) is literally "the end of the age" or "the consummation of the age" and is translated by the latter phrase in the Rev. Ver. The end of the planet on which we live is nowhere foretold, but even Peter, who describes in strong language the purification which will take place, says, "Nevertheless we, according to His promise, look for new heavens and a new earth wherein dwelleth righteousness." He also tells us that as the world in Noah's day perished by water the present world is reserved unto fire (II Pet. iii, 5-7, 13).

In this parable the good seed is not the word of God, but those in whom the seed of the word has found good soil and whom our Lord calls "the children of the kingdom." In I Cor. iii, 9, they are called "God's tillage." In John xii, 24, our Lord taught that if we would bear fruit we must be content to fall into the ground and die. It is for Him to say where we are to be planted, for the field is His, although at present occupied by an enemy. The sower of the good seed is the Son of Man; the other sower is the enemy, the devil, and he sows his own children, professedly religious people like Cain (John viii, 44; I John iii, 10-12). Outwardly they look like wheat and no doubt think that they are wheat, but the story of Cain shows where they stand and why he and Abel both came to worship God, but only Abel came in God's appointed way, revealed to Adam the way of sacrifice (Gen. iii, 21). Cain brought the best he had, but there was no confession of guilt, no sacrifice, no shedding of blood. The multitude of such today are tares, not wheat; children of the wicked one, not the children of God. Their end is the furnace of fire where there shall be wailing and gnashing of teeth. The language is fearful, but it is never used in reference to those who profess to be what they are not, the deceived ones of the devil (Matt. viii, 12; xiii, 42, 50; xxii, 13; xxiv, 51; xxv, 30; Luke xii, 28). See also what is written of those who hear the gospel, but obey it not, in II Thess. i, 7-9; John iii, 18, 36.

From the time when the devil deceived Eve by making her believe that he would do better for her than God, up to the very end of this age, when he will persuade people that to make a living they must join the union of this or that nature, or, in other words, receive the mark of the beast (Rev. xiii, 17), he has been a most persistent deceiver, destroyer, liar, murderer. See in Rev. xiv, 9-11; xv, 2-4, the doom of all who worship the beast and the bliss of all who prefer death to the prosperity of the devil. Jas. i, 12; Rev. ii, 10, are good words of strong consolation. We must not think of the taking away of the church as the end of the age, for following that great event for which the righteous wait or should be waiting the coming of the Lord to the air for His saints (I Thess. iv, 16-18; I Cor. xv, 51-53; Tit. ii, 13; I Cor. i, 7; I Thess. i, 10), the man of sin shall be revealed, the antichrist, with his companion the false prophet, and the age will run on for some years during the time of the great tribulation, the time of Jacob's trouble, when the sealed ones of Israel shall be preserved and a great multitude of redeemed gathered from all nations. Then at the crisis of iniquity, when the devil shall have done his worst, the Lord Jesus shall come with all His saints for the overthrow of all His enemies, the conversion of Israel and the establishment of His kingdom. It is then that, according to verse 43 of our chapter, "the righteous shall shine forth as the sun in the kingdom of their Father." Compare Dan. xii, 1-3; Zech. xiv, 4-9; I Thess. iii, 13; I Thess. i, 10. Then shall the devil be shut up in the pit for 1,000 years, while his companions the beast and the false prophet shall go to the lake of fire (Rev. xix and xx).

How fearful will be the ending of this evil age when the Lord cometh out of His place to punish the inhabitants of the earth for their iniquity, but what a comfort to know that His people shall be hidden safely during the time of the indignation (Isa. xvi, 19-21). When we attempt to consider the suffering of our Lord Jesus Christ as the sinner's substitute, the indescribable agonies of Gethsemane and Calvary, we get some faint idea of God's hatred of sin, the nature of sin and of the wrath of God. If we are not truly children of God redeemed by that precious blood, the wrath of God will be our portion, no matter what our religious profession may be, for it is the blood that maketh atonement for the soul, and without the shedding of blood there is no remission (Lev. xvii, 11; Heb. ix, 22).

A GLASS EYE.

It Turned the Scale in a Matter of Love.

By THOMAS R. DEANE.
(Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.)

I courted Jeannette abroad. There is no better field for lovemaking than traveling about. With nothing to do but enjoy oneself, or, rather, oneself, for as "it takes two to make a bargain," so it takes two to make love. Jeannette and I met at Sorrento, where we sat in a pavilion in the midst of an orange grove looking on the bay of Naples spread out several hundred feet below us. Spooky young men are always talking to spooky young women about fickleness, and I found a convenient illustration in the ever changing hues of the Mediterranean. Besides, there is something in the Italian climate to quicken love. It is soft and balmy, yet the skies are bright and blue.

Then in Rome we dawdled through the Forum and sat on the stone seats in the Coliseum just as youths and maidens did some eighteen centuries before, except that the Roman couples of those days were there to see gladiators kill one another or wild beasts feed on lean Christians. But we were under the blue sky of Italy, and, as I have said, the Italian climate quickens love.

From Rome we drifted into Florence and stood at evening looking over the stone coping of the Ponte Vecchio at the placid Arno flowing beneath us while the last rays of the setting sun gilded the neighboring hills. And as I think I have remarked before—the Italian climate is conducive to love. But I didn't say that about the English climate. The English climate is conducive to let me see—the English climate is conducive to colds, sore throat, rheumatism, the blues. I wonder that the English people ever marry for love, and I fancy there is less marrying there on that account than in any land on the face of the earth.

It may seem that this is not only disagreeable, but a digression. It may be the former, but it is not the latter. At any rate, it is a part of my story, for

MY GAZE WAS FASTENED ON HIS GLASS EYE.

Jeannette and I parted in Florence, having plighted our troth on the elevated Piazza Michelangelo overlooking the city. We were sitting beneath one of half a dozen statues of David, each being the original statue, and came together again in England.

What a change, not only in the climate, but in us—I mean in Jeannette! In Italy she had been responsive to my slightest whisper. Indeed, the slightest whisper the better it accorded with our ineffectual surroundings. In England I, being hoarse, was obliged to speak to her with the voice of a megaphone, and she, being deafened by a cold, could scarcely hear me. Instead of leaning her head against my arm and looking up at me with a happy smile, as she had done in the Italian moonlight, speaking of poets and painters, she sat regarding me with watery eyes, saying that she wished it would stop raining.

This story goes to prove that what writers on the development of civilization say about the effect of climate on peoples is true. In Italy Jeannette and I had loved; in England the marriage question became one of practical advantage. I found that I was not as much in love as I had thought I was until Jeannette indicated that she was meditating giving me the grand bounce. This brought me to my senses.

Young Lord Crickenback, who never appeared without a very large flower in his buttonhole, a very small silk hat on his head and a monocle on his right eye, was the man who taught me that, despite my present watery surroundings, I did not wish to surrender Jeannette. Why had I not continued to keep her in Italy, or why did I not insist on the knot being tied before coming to this land, where there is no sentiment, only interest? This Lord Crickenback had nothing whatever to recommend him except that he had a title. Even with his title on the sunny shores of the Mediterranean I could have snapped my fingers at him.

Jeannette did not break with me. I think she would have done so had not the sun occasionally broken through the clouds to remind her of those happy days she had passed with me at Sorrento, at Florence and at Rome. On such days I noticed a sudden demonstration of a dormant love for me that had not entirely died within her. I wished on such sunny days that there were some places where one could go similar to the Piazza Michelangelo at Florence or the Corso in Rome. But there are no such places in London. The most enjoyable is Hyde park, but the sun doesn't shine long enough to dry the benches. And a wet bench is no place for spooning. One bright day I took her to the Tower, and we sat together in the courtyard of the old pile. I was about to whisper something tender in her ear when she shuddered.

"What is it?" I asked concernedly. "That plate in the ground. It says that on this spot Lady Jane Grey, Catharine Howard and others were executed."

We arose and walked away. Crickenback continued to hang about Jeannette, and I saw that with her it was a case of interest versus love. I wished that I might find some method of turning the scale in my favor. I have usually been considered to have about me something of that resource for which we Americans are distinguished, but who ever heard of a man in love—really in love, I mean—being able to think dispassionately about anything concerning the winning or the losing of the girl he loves.

I met Wackford in London. He had just come over. Wackford and I have been bosom friends since we were little kids. A man in love needs some one to talk to, and I talked to Wackford. I told him the whole story. He listened to me attentively, sympathetically.

"What you want," he said when I had finished, "is some device by which you can save the young lady from herself—and for yourself, understand?"

"That's it exactly." "Very well. You show me this Crookedback, or whatever his name is, and I'll see what I can do for you."

The very next afternoon I drove with Wackford in Rotten row, and we saw Crickenback. You can meet anybody that belongs to the upper classes in Rotten row.

"Why, the fellow wears a glass eye!" said Wackford.

"How do you know?" "Can't I tell the difference between a glass and a real eye? Of course I can. There—see the sun shining on it! Do you suppose he has told her about it?"

"Don't know. I never heard her speak of it."

The next time I was with Jeannette I asked her, "Did Lord Crickenback ever speak of any misfortune, any mutilation?"

"No. Why do you ask?" "Oh, nothing; at least nothing that it's my business to tell you."

"I insist upon knowing."

I demurred for awhile, then told her what Wackford had said about his lordship's glass eye.

"I don't believe it," she said.

"You'd better ask him," I replied.

"Ask him? Do you suppose I would do that?"

Every time I saw Crickenback after that my gaze was fastened willy nilly on his glass eye. I wondered if it had the same effect on Jeannette. I asked Wackford when he was going to give me the device he had referred to, and he replied:

"Don't know. Did you tell her about his glass eye?"

I admitted that I had, and Wackford turned the subject.

Whatever was the cause, Lord Crickenback from this time seemed to be losing ground with Jeannette. As he lost I gained. Then I perked up and played indifferent. This was followed by a coldness between Jeannette and me in which she seemed saddened, and eventually came a reconciliation. I determined to strike while the iron was hot and made it a condition of my forgiveness for her defection from me to Crickenback that we should be married at once.

We were married in London, Wackford being my best man. I insisted on a wedding trip to Italy, but since it was not now the season for visiting the far south we contented ourselves with Lake Como. While out in a boat one evening, pulled by an Italian oarsman who could not understand English, I asked my wife to make a clean breast of her part of the coming of Lord Crickenback between us.

"I was not in love with him," she said, "but a title to a woman is very tempting. I thought how nice it would be to be called Lady Crickenback and to be introduced to the real English nobility."

"And why didn't you do it?" I asked. "Because I loved you, of course."

"How did you happen to come to a decision that you would rather have me and love than a title and no love?"

"You insist on knowing?"

"Yes, I do."

"Well, it was the glass eye."

"You don't mean it?"

"Yes. For my life whenever I saw him after you told me he had a glass eye I couldn't keep from looking at it whenever he was with me. At last it grew so repulsive that I had to send him away."

When he returned to London Wackford called on us.

"By the bye, Wack," I said, "by giving me the fact of Crickenback's wearing a glass eye you fixed me up with Jeannette."

"He has two now."

"What do you mean by that? Is he stone blind?"

"No; he has left off his monocle and has taken on a pair."

I looked at Jeannette, and Jeannette looked at me; then we smiled.

"You wanted me to suggest something," said Wackford, "to break the Crickenback spell, and I gave you the glass eye, which is synonymous with eyeglass. You owe me one."

A DOCTOR'S PRESCRIPTION FOR PIMPLES

To remove Pimples, Blackheads, Blotches and all forms of skin eruptions, is, according to a well known physician, a very easy matter; he says that many are afflicted with some one of the above ailments, and are subject to a great deal of embarrassment on account of the unsightly appearance which they present, and recommends the following simple, harmless and inexpensive treatment. Go to your Druggist and get this prescription filled: Clearola—one-half ounce. Either one ounce, Alcohol seven ounces, mix, shake well and apply to the parts affected night and morning, allowing it to remain on the skin at least ten minutes, then wipe off the powder from the skin. Use a soft cloth or sponge in applying the mixture and in from ten days to two weeks your face will be smooth and clear as a marriage bell. Get the Pure Clearola, which is only put up in half-ounce packages. Ask to see it.

Woman's Power Over Man

Woman's most glorious endowment is the power to awaken and hold the pure and honest love of a worthy man. When she loses it and still loves on, no one in the wide world can know the heart agony she endures. The woman who suffers from weakness and derangement of her special womanly organism soon loses the power to sway the heart of a man. Her general health suffers and she loses her good looks, her attractiveness, her amiability and her power and prestige as a woman. Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., with the assistance of his staff of able physicians, has prescribed for and cured many thousands of women. He has devised a successful remedy for woman's ailments. It is known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a positive, specific for the weaknesses and disorders peculiar to women. It purifies, regulates, strengthens and heals. Medicine dealers sell it. No honest dealer will advise you to accept a substitute in order to make a little larger profit.

SEE THESE BEAUTIFUL LINGERIE DRESSES

Daintiness and style have been carried to the highest degree in these charming garments.

Materials are excellent in quality. Trimmings are particularly pleasing in design. Some are adorned with lace and embroideries combined. Others are made of all-over imported embroideries. On still others Valenciennes and Cluny insertions have been employed.

Models are graceful and becoming, and making careful throughout.

Even if you bought lingerie gowns earlier in the season you will certainly find a place in your summer outfit for one or more of these lovely frocks.

They represent the latest styles produced, yet are most moderate in price, ranging from $2.98 to $7.98 each.

WASH WAISTS--PRETTY AND CLEVERLY MADE

The Season's Latest Productions

Careful, skillful making perhaps more than any other thing is responsible for their superiority. There is little of the regulation old-fashioned shirt waists about them except the name.

True, some of the styles are very simple, but there are novel touches about even the plainest.

More elaborate models are simply bewitching—delicate lace effects or rich embroidered blouses.

Values as well as styles are exceptional—the low prices typical of this store prevailing in every instance.

No woman was ever known to have too many dainty waists, and this season both the fancy and tailored varieties are going to be more fashionable than ever. You can't go amiss in choosing a number of becoming styles from this impressive array.

Prices range from 75c to $2.50.
